

SABINA HANK & WILLI RESETARITS

twilight songs

sabina hank conjured up an evening of songs. "twilight songs".

songs about emigration, wandering further in the countryside.

songs about the end of world wanderings.

she got involved with jura soyfer and for the first time set german lyrics to music, also at the wish of her musical partner willi resetarits. a marvelous, highly individual roundelay resulted out of the poems by the austrian writer that combines landscapes with feelings.

sabina hank has created sound patterns that touch the soul, poetry becomes music, tone sculptures and paintings in dark colors of passion give the poems their own new melody, elegaic and melancholic.

twilight songs --- on the one hand soundtracks of longing, of doubt and of rebellion but also pictures of hope and surrender to fate.

together with willi resetarits, her congenial interpreter, and her band, sabina hank unlocks deep insights into an inner world beyond language.

(michael schottenberg, 2005)

the program is completed with additional texts set to music from the pen of h.c.

artmann, which lend this special program supplementary color, longing and also lightness. the songs were mutually composed and arranged by resetarits and hank.
